NAZI WAR CRIMES DISCLOSURE ACT
DATE 2007

1. The question of field relationships between your activity and the organization headed by C J has been discussed at length by C J and myself, as the result of certain inquiries directed by C J to his own Home Office.

2. It is recognized that you have maintained altogether cordial and correct relations with C J's organization, and the same spirit of mutual cooperation exists between KNORBY and C J's group here. At the same time, it was felt that in the interest of both groups it would be advisable for you to formalize your relation with C J to prevent any possibility of future misunderstanding.

3. Accordingly, C J has drafted to C J a communication, in which I have concurred, substantially along the following lines:

a. C J's group will pass to you, on a regular and continuing basis, material produced by it in the field of propaganda;

b. C J will take up with you, either on his own initiative or at your or our request, specific problems in the other fields which fall within the general sphere of KNORBY competence. This arrangement will continue until the arrival in the field of other KNORBY officers specifically authorized to deal with questions other than propaganda;

c. In the matter of briefings and the passing of material, it was the joint feeling of C J and myself that you should be the point of contact with C J and his principal officers; you should forward requests from EDUCATOR to him and, in turn, take back the answers to questions that you and your people may have;

d. Under special circumstances, C J is authorized occasionally to make an exception to the foregoing general rule in the cases of selected other officers of EDUCATOR, when such liaison can be accomplished on a thoroughly secure basis;

e. In general, however, regular liaison on the desk level should be discouraged until further notice.

4. These instructions are not intended to hinder the continuance of cordial and cooperative relations in the field, but rather to be sure that they are conducted on a regularized and secure basis. It is requested that you guide your group accordingly.

5. If you and C O should mutually agree upon any modifications to these instructions, I am sure your joint views would receive most favorable consideration here.
